STILL LOOKING FORWARD

The sun is always shining behind the clouds. The night is never so dark but that the daylight follows again. The sun is beginning to shine again in all its splendor in Bulloch county. Where gloom was, hope is; where was despondency, now is cheer.

This state is exemplified in many ways, but in no way better than in the result of that meeting yesterday when the stockholders of the old Bank of Statesboro, closed a year ago because of inability to realize upon the abundance of assets which should have been adequate for its relief, voted to resume business with a new institution. The proposal carried with it a voluntary assessment against the stock in the old bank, to be paid for the benefit of the depositors, as well as the subscription to new stock necessary to set the new institution upon its feet.

Fifty thousand dollars! That is not a small amount to raise among ordinary people at any time, and especially it is not counted insignificant in these days so near upon the heels of depression, but it was only a matter of moments to raise that amount by subscription at yesterday's meeting.

The matter of dollars and cents involved in this subscription means much, but it means less than is conveyed in its message that the sun is beginning to shine in the lives of our people—that confidence is coming back and that they still have faith in themselves and in each other.

The people of Bulloch county are happy today that their faces are still turned forward upon the highway of confidence and prosperity. They are happy that they live among other people who are willing to pull with them in doing those things which are needful for the going forward of their community.

Nothing in the business world is more needful than proper banking facilities. Not only will the proposed new bank make an important contribution in this respect, but its establishment is a long step toward saving from loss much of the assets of the old bank which, if forced to fail, would have been lost to the creditors of the Bank of Statesboro and bring hardship to those who are indebted to it. The new institution will not only serve for the future, along with our other splendid bank, the Sea Island, which has grown in the every respect during the twelve months since its re-establishment, but the immediate release of so large an amount of the deposits of the old bank will go a long way toward giving relief to those who have waited patiently the past year for a Santa Claus which had become to seem vague and far away.

It is a happy day for Bulloch county when the people are confident of themselves and are able and willing to put themselves out to give the people another good bank to co-operate with the one which has been serving them alone for the past year!

World's fair officials have decided to reopen the fair in 1934. We presume this means that Sally will have to go shopping for a new fan.

General Johnson had to let to say in his Chicago speech about throwing dead cats but he forgot to mention the four million dead pigs. Who threw them?

A lot of military experts are of the opinion that what Uncle Sam needs for defense is more air power. We might keep congress in continuous session.

A butcher's prize dog slept peacefully in the back seat of his master's car while thieves drove away with it and abandoned it in a cornfield near Dover, O.

"After reading much of monetary theory," says Walter Lippman, "I feel sure that nobody can be perfectly sure." Didn't Walter ever hear of the Brain Trust?

British bankers say so much American money is being deposited in British banks that they hardly know what to do with it. Can't the NRA do something about this?

Bulloch Farm Notes

Good Dairy Bulls Available
We have listed with us three good Guernsey bulls for sale that should prove to be of value to a dairy herd. These bulls are bred by the large bull owned by the South Georgia Teachers College and are from pure-bred Guernsey cows. Anyone interested in holding up his herd or improving such a herd would do well to add one of these bulls to his farm.

Planning the 1934 Crop

The plans, which will be forthcoming in the near future, for extensive cultivation of acreage in cotton and tobacco will call for drastic changes in the plans of a majority of Georgia farmers. Most of them will naturally make a determined effort to provide productive work for available labor, and efficient use for available land and equipment. There is nothing in the purpose or policy of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration which would even tend to forbid a proper maximum use of farm labor, land or equipment. The administration has as its foremost purpose the re-establishment of farm purchasing power. If its activities should result in the displacement of any considerable amount of farm labor, its purpose to that extent will have been defeated since labor thus displaced would simply add to present unemployment problems.

The outlook for farm credit during 1934 shows more improvement over the acute situation existing at this time a year ago. The supply of funds available from commercial sources is still greatly restricted, but an attempt has been made through recent legislation, which set up the farm credit administration, to make the limited facilities from commercial sources. The facilities for both short and long term credit have been greatly enlarged by this newly established federal credit agency.

Domestic demand for most farm products has shown marked improvement since March, 1933, and seems likely to show further improvement during 1934. In view of the relatively high level of activity in industries utilizing agricultural products, it seems probable that further advances in prices of farm products will develop. Behind all this is a quiet, scholarly figure and a name which rarely comes before the public. It is that of George Frederick Warren, an agricultural economist of Cornell. Last year he wrote a book called Prices, which became the Bible of the committee of the nation, an organization of high school and college graduates of the age of 17 and 18 and was accepted at the Marine Corps recruiting station, post-office building, Savannah, Ga., during the month of December to learn the drum and trumpet. It is announced that Colonel A. B. Drum, officer in charge.

Applicants for drum and trumpet must have at least an eighth grade education and be not less than 68 inches in height. In addition to the vacancies for drum and trumpet, 35 graduates of high school between the ages of 18 and 30 will be accepted for general service. Applications will be mailed upon request to young men of this section who have the above requirements.

SOME HIGHLIGHTS IN UPWARD TREND

HAPPENINGS THAT AFFECT DINER PAIDS, DIVIDEND CHECKS AND TAX BILLS OF NATION.

Not since the days when Bryan and McKinley fought it out along the line of 16-to-1 has the money question so swept the country. And it's a good deal more important now than it was then—Bryan, who wanted to try a new monetary experiment was only a candidate. Franklin Roosevelt is a president, with unprecedented powers.

Recently inflation and deflation, gold-buying, dollar depreciation, and all the other phases of the problem, have dwarfed everything else. They have almost taken the NRA out of the headlines. They have submerged the farm problem and the foreign problem. Definite battle lines have formed. Each side is plentifully supplied with experts. Each side has its corps of big business men and little business men. And the public, which reads the dispatches, is in a state of bewilderment.

The way the wind blows was first shown with the resignation of Undersecretary of the Treasury Acheson, a conservative and unrelenting hard-money man. He was immediately followed into retirement by Dr. Oliver Sprague, once a financial adviser to the Bank of England, to whom "soft" money is even more distasteful.

Secretary Woodin, who has been torn of late between his great devotion to his chief and his instinctive belief in conservative financial policies, went away on an indefinite leave of absence. Into his place stepped Henry Morgenthau Jr., scion of a famous financial family, who sees eye to eye with the president on practically everything.

Behind all this is a quiet, scholarly figure and a name which rarely comes before the public. It is that of George Frederick Warren, an agricultural economist of Cornell. Last year he wrote a book called Prices, which became the Bible of the committee of the nation, an organization of high school and college graduates of the age of 17 and 18 and was accepted at the Marine Corps recruiting station, post-office building, Savannah, Ga., during the month of December to learn the drum and trumpet. often as psychologically destructive to the individual as it is socially destructive to the country at large. The purpose is to give 4,000,000 men work this winter on projects where at least 80 cents of each dollar spent will go for wages.

All able-bodied persons now receiving relief are to be given regular, useful jobs at real wages. Two million people fall in this classification. Two million more, not on the relief rolls, are also the provided with work. Great stress is laid on the influence this will have in increasing the public income and sending more of the blood of money through the veins of trade.

Comptroller Asks for Speedy Tax Collections

The office of the county tax collector has received from the comptroller-general's office an urgent appeal for help. In that appeal is made the statement: "It is very necessary that the taxes due by the citizens of the state be collected and paid into the state treasury prior to December 31st if we are to pay 70% on 1933 appropriations."

The proposition is simply this, if you want your school teachers and your other state institutions to operate, pay your taxes and help them to do so.

Play at Ogeechee

Wednesday Evening

"One Minute of Twelve," a play in three acts, will be presented in the Ogeechee school auditorium Wednesday evening, Dec. 13th, at 8 o'clock. Following is the cast of characters:

Billy Butler, always falling in and out of love—Paul Jr. Brunson.
M. T. Butler, Billy's wealthy father—L. A. Redd.
Marvel Butler, Billy's sister—Lolita G. Murray, Marvel's chum—Ellen Moorey.

Ninetta Delacy, of the Follies and engaged to Billy—Materline Lee.
Mary Ann Martin, just a waitress, but engaged to Billy—Mildred Thompson.

Ermintrude Fair, a manicurist engaged to Billy—Ernestine Driggers.
Da Don List, dangerously beautiful, engaged to Billy—Grace Everett.
Pokadot, colored man of the Butlers—Loy Everett.

Lindy Law, colored maid of the Butlers—B. Mae Lord.
Two black-face dialogues will be presented between the acts:

"Suds and Duds," Sam, a lazy coon, Rawdon Smith; mandy, industrious wash lady, Sara Huley. A black-face dialogue on wash day in Mandy's back yard.

"Mush and Poke Ash Haulers," Mush, Stanley Wilson; Poke, Jason Hughes. A black-face dialogue during business hours in the ash haulers' office, accompanied with several negro songs.

A song for the old folks and a scream for the children. Admission 10 and 15 cents.

Denmark School

One of the most successful P. T. A. meetings in the history of the Denmark school was held November 23, Mr. Cromartie, from the Nevils high school, gave a most inspiring talk on "Home." He brought several of his teachers with him. The Denmark P. T. A. is always glad to welcome visitors and hopes in this way to bring about a closer relationship among our neighboring schools.

There were about sixty members present at this meeting. It was unanimously decided that one of our aims for this year shall be realized before Christmas—shut out the cold from our auditorium. Donations amounting to $64 were made at this meeting. A committee was appointed to see all patrons not present. We are counting on their hearty co-operation.

Fifty dollars were realized from the musical and oyster supper last Wednesday night. This will also go to help pay seats for our auditorium. There will be another entertainment before Christmas. Watch your paper for the date.

The December meeting of the P. T. A. will be held Thursday night, December 14th. An special Christmas program has been arranged. The honor roll for November is as follows:

Ninth Grade—Ada Mae Anderson.
Eighth Grade—Louise Schenck.
Seventh Grade—Grace Woodcock.
Sixth Grade—Lunie Mae Clifton.
Fifth Grade—Carolyn Proctor and Wildred Hagins.

Third Grade—Arnour Lewis, Carroll Miller, Nancy Nesmith and Norman Woodcock.
Second Grade—Durrell Proctor, Loreta Bragg and Gusie Denmark.
First Grade—Joan Trappell.
School leader—Lunie Mae Clifton.

Miscellaneous Program At West Side School

The West Side P. T. A. invites all their friends to a miscellaneous entertainment which is to be given at the school house Friday night, December 15th, at 7:00 o'clock. A delightful program is to be given in the auditorium for a 5c and 10c admission charge.

The program will consist of a play, "A Woman's Wedding," and several musical numbers.

Oysters, drinks, sandwiches, candy, ice cream and salads are to be sold before and after the program.

BOARD GRATIFIED OVER CONDITIONS

INDUSTRIAL LEADER VIGOROUSLY DISCUSSES PERMANENT BENEFITS OF CODES.

Washington, Dec. 11.—Louis Kirtstein, of Boston, retiring chairman of the NRA Industrial Advisory Board, in accordance with the rotation plan, has issued a statement, with the approval of all members, as follows: "Members of the board desire to record their gratification at the progress being made by NRA. To December 1 there had been filed 1,200 codes, 382 of which have progressed through public hearing and 143 signed by the president. The making of codes is a meticulous and difficult process. When complete, a code represents a basis of agreement, notwithstanding divergent viewpoints of the many members of the industry, consumer, and labor. The result so attained conforms to necessary requirements of the law which gives it being."

"Many codes are imperfect, and demonstrated practicalities will dictate their gradual improvement. That was expected, and ample provision is made both in law and practice to accomplish needed amendments. It is therefore obvious that only a limited number of industries have had fair opportunity to judge the effects of code operation. The members of the board note with satisfaction that in practically all cases coming to their attention the early experiences have been encouragingly beneficial."

"In an effort to forecast the probable effects of codes on the economics of business, the board desires to emphasize the distinction between short-term and long-term viewpoints. There is a tendency to overlook certain permanent long-term implications of vital influence upon the conduct of business and industry generally. The unfair-trade practice provisions give promise of permanent crystallization. Business men are attaining a better appreciation of the possibilities of self-government and are realizing that for the most part their competitors are just as sincere as themselves in willingness to work together for the common good. In every code so far made effective the code administration is definitely in the hands of the industry concerned; NRA undertakes, for the protection of the public, labor and the minority interests, the responsibility for fair administration of all codes. We believe that in the exercise of this power there has been and will be full recognition of the principle of self-government."

"By its intelligent and reasonable conduct industry can, through this temporary experience, prove its sincerity and reasonableness and can lead the way to such a permanent basis of improved relations as will insure to the benefit of all concerned. We are in the laboratory stage of this great experiment, with promising prospects for success. The members of the board believe that these viewpoints are worthy of very earnest consideration in any appraisal of the activities of NRA."

Mr. Kirtstein was succeeded as chairman by Pierre S. du Pont, famous manufacturer of Delaware.
